VANCOUVER MODERN HOME TOUR 2014

September 16, 2014

September 20, marks the second annual Vancouver Modern Home Tour. The Tour is a chance for ticket holders to tour beautiful and contemporary homes designed by Vancouver's most talented architects. It's also a great opportunity to meet with and discuss design with the architect's that created each of the evocative and edgy home designs. Iredale Group Architecture was chosen as one of only seven homes that exemplify modern architecture and living in this year's Modern Home Tour.

Our home, located in West Vancouver, is situated on a sloping site with spectacular views across the city and valley. This modern residence consists of three planes stepping down the slope and wrapped by a continuous envelope which starts out as the roof but organically folds down to the ground. Architect, Peter Hildebrand, will be on site at the home on Saturday from 11 am until 5 pm.

The tour is being held in conjunction with Western Living Magazine's Design Week and Vancouver's Design Week, which runs from September 18th to the 28th.
